Vinsell. History of Queens County, New York, says that there were the usual "three brothers" who came to America, landing in Massachusetts. One located in Connecticut, one in Dutchess County, New York and the other one - Richard went to Flushing, Long Island. He in 1643 was a patentee and Magistrate.

His descendants are numerous and "evinced a taste for public life, civil and military". "The pioneer was a consistent Quaker as are many of his descendants."

Bunker in his Long Island Genealogy refers to John Cornwell a brother of Richard Cornwell (Cornkill as the name appears at times) lived in Queens County, married and had a family there. This family intermarried with the Sands (Sandys) family.

Thompson in his History of Long Island refers to this John Cornwell as the son of Richard Cornwell or Cornhill, an Englishman who in the early days of the Dutch Government made extensive purchases around Rockaway.

John Cornwell December 13, 1636 patented 100 acres on Cows Bay, one half acre of which he gave as a burial ground and in this were buried the Cornwell and Sands Families.

This family of Cornwells may be of interest since they are of the neighborhood in which the two Stephens were living in 1720.

THE MISSES CURRY
GENEALOGISTS AND RESEARCHERS
1420 GIRARD STREET N. W.
WASHINGTON, D. C.

April 12, 1974.

Dear Mr. Cornwall:-

We are sending you herewith, briefs of the Benjamin Cornwall census, (the only census in which he drew one), and the briefs of the census which we called as either showing New York service, or as having resided in those sections of New York as are of especial interest from the fact that your people at one time lived in those counties.

We had also sent to John A. A. for the record of the Cornwall deeds in Sullivan County and had received the report when yours of the 14th reached us. I made a census of the 1820 and 1830 census for the Cornwall but he has not of record in either of them, nor did any one of that name draw a Revolutionary pension.

An examination of the records in the General Land Office, gave a little information in regard to the Ohio land, although not so much as we had hoped for. There was one record of 100 acres to William Cornwall but the date was omitted, and judging from the records preceding and preceding that one, the time must have approximated the time that your William was acquiring land in Sullivan County, N.Y. This 100 acres was located in Highland County, Ohio. More than ever I wonder why the County Clerk could find no reference to the name of Cornwall in any of its variations. The records of that county are especially fine, the county prides itself upon them.

We also gave an inquiry of Ashtabula County, Ohio, which lies to the east of Highland and which was formed partially from Highland. The Clerk reports that the name Cornwall does not appear although there is one record after 1800 in which the name of Susie Cornwall appears as Guardian of the minor heirs of Clark Cornwall.

Among the census called there were a couple where in the listing there had been an error, as that of George listed as U.S. service, whereas he served in Conn. and resided in when he made his application. There are on the lists, which we have, sixteen more of the name of Wright who were living in the State of New York when applying for Pensions although they served in the Revolution in other states. All New England with the one exception of Joan Wright, Virginia Service who lived at the time he made application in Rensselaer County, New York.

We will not call these until we have further instructions from you as to the matter. We are disappointed in the information in those gathered, but there may be more of interest to you with the information you have, than appears to us. Among the other censuses not yet examined there may be most helpful data to be gathered and again they may fail to give the clue for which we are seeking.

We had hoped to send this report a little sooner but this is the season of conventions in our city. Many of the patriotic organizations meet here each spring and the members take advantage of their being in the city to examine the various records, during their stay. This means that all sources of information are much in use, and that we must necessarily be delayed.

Very truly Yours,

The Misses Curry.

Clinton Co. N. Y. age 75, widow of Caleb
Cornwall, a private in the Revolutionary Army.
He resided at Great Nine Partners, N. Y. and

He returned the winter of 1782, when his tour was out.

Were married 12 May 1782 at Great Nine clergyman. Her maiden name was Martha Anson.

Caleb died 16 August 1803.

Martha married again at Peru, N. Y. on October
